YEAR HIGHLIGHTS

A growing Saturday programme

The season account describes a Saturday beginner group of around 20–30 children, alongside 14 intermediate and advanced sailors training two to three times a week. These are group sizes, not a unique annual participation total.

Swimming joins sailing

Neighbours and supporters helped organise volunteer-led swimming lessons. School sailing continued with the Elementary Learning Center and Deep Creek Middle School.

The first home regatta

In April 2022, ESA held its first Easter team-racing regatta at Savannah Sound. The season account records 20 competing sailors, with visitors joining the local sailing community.

The first community fundraiser

A fundraiser at Unicorn Cay accompanied the April regatta week. Hosts, organisers, musicians and local businesses contributed to the event.

AN ISLAND EFFORT

A regular place to learn

Two school lessons a week continued through The Island School connection. Keeping Optimists at Cape Eleuthera supported the programme there. Saturday beginners and advanced training offered children a way to return and build their skills.

Sharing Savannah Sound

Hosting the first team-racing event brought visiting sailors, coaches and umpires to ESA's home waters. Cooperation with the Bahamas Sailing Association and BAHODA helped connect the academy with the national sailing network.

Support beyond the water

The April fundraiser included a silent auction, musicians, food contributions and participating businesses. Jane and Scott hosted at Unicorn Cay. People could support the academy through their skills and time as well as their involvement in sailing.

Thank you

Thank you to the swimming volunteers, school partners, sailing families, regatta visitors, fundraiser organisers, hosts and local businesses. Their different contributions helped the programme continue.

ACROSS BAHAMIAN WATERS

BRIEF ACCOUNTING SUMMARY

Year ended 30 June 2022

The published Statement of Activities reports the following academy-wide totals for the financial year ended 30 June 2022.

Reported figures

Revenue and support: $112,020
Expenses: $72,241
Net result: reconciliation pending

Reconciliation note

The Statement of Activities reports a $39,779 increase in net assets. The cash-flow statement and comparative balance-sheet movement instead indicate $35,265, a difference of $4,514. The reported net result is therefore not presented here as reconciled.

Accounting qualification

The figures include in-kind support and depreciation and are not cash receipts and payments. Printed totals are reproduced; the individual revenue and expense lines each sum to $1 more than their respective printed totals. The source does not identify the dollar currency. This reconstruction does not assert that the figures are audited.
